Dear Eller College Admissions Committee:

I have submitted an application for the Eller College of Management with a focus in finance. I want to pursue a career in finance because I feel it is the best application of my skills to use in the real world. It would give me the opportunity to use my leadership skills and build a successful organization. A degree in finance from the Eller College of Management will prepare me for a career in investment services and financial planning.

Finance careers require relentless motivation, excellent communication, and exceptional leadership. As a Division One athlete at the University of Arizona, I have learned how to fine-tune those skills and transfer them into my academics. The intrinsic motivation and teamwork required to be competitive in athletics has challenged me to apply those skills in the classroom and other areas of my life. It is easy for people to get overwhelmed and discouraged when they are stressed, but my experiences have taught me to thrive in these situations. Just as important, I am eager to learn and am consistently seeking ways to better myself. In and out of the classroom, I work hard to achieve the goals I set for myself and never back down from a challenge. Furthermore, I am a member of the Financial Management Club at Arizona, which gives me confidence that finance is the major where I belong. Money management and the lessons I have obtained being a member of the club are applicable to all aspects of my life.

Eller should consider me for the College of Finance because of my academic, athletic, and extracurricular experiences. This involvement has taught me the importance of resilience that streamlines my strengths and turns them into achievement. I am passionate about being part of the Wildcat Nation and want to bring that energy to Eller while pursuing a finance degree. I will continue to challenge myself and am determined to learn from the experience. It is an honor to be considered for this incredible opportunity.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Chase McQueen
